WUSC Here This Week

Housing for refugee students in Israel and health centres and tuberculosis sanitariums for Japanese and Indonesian students will benefit from World University service's annual campaign for funds this week.

Student canvassers will bring in most of the funds for WUS's campaign for finances for its International Aid program. Nurses and engineers will also hold their second annual "Survival of the Fittest" dance Nov. 25, proceeds of which will go to WUS. Other organizations will campaign further for WUS.

Canvassers will approach students personally for contributions.

Some of the proceeds will also be used to finish paying for Canadian students' trips last summer on WUS study tours in foreign countries. Alberta WUS president Fred Parkinson, engineer 4, was chosen to go to Japan.

Campaign contributions are legally deductible from income tax, and receipts will be furnished. At least one dollar is required for a donation; and more may be given if desired.

Stamps Versus Esks At U Of A Parade Night

Jim Sherbaniuk, Public Relations Officer for the Students Union, has announced that the annual Varsity Football Parade will be held Oct. 29—the last game of the season when the Edmonton Eskimos will square off against their traditional rivals, the Calgary Stampeders.

University students from both cities are expected to be out in full force for the fall highlight. Since college football left the local campus some years ago, the parade has served as one of the foremost spirit raisers.

Eskimo officials have set aside an entire section of Clarke Stadium and are offering the tickets to University students at a reduced price. Tickets will be on sale in the Arts Rotunda and SUB from Monday, Oct. 24 to Wednesday, Oct. 26, 12:30 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. Mr. Sherbaniuk urged students to obtain their tickets early, since only a limited number will be offered.

MORE THAN 20 floats from major campus organizations are expected to take part in the parade. Trophies will be presented for the three best entries.

The floats will form up on 89 Ave. between 112th Street and the Students Union building around 5:45 p.m. A police escort will lead the parade off at 6:15 p.m. sharp, taking it downtown via the high level bridge, down Jasper Ave to 95th Street, north to 111th Ave east to 86th Street and along Stadium Road where the floats will park before entering the Stadium.

At half time the floats will enter the west gate and circle the field for display and judging by a committee including A. A. Ryan, Provost;

President John Bracco; Edmonton Eskimo president, S. S. Lieberman; Stampeder president, Ed O'Connor and Walter Dinwoodie, permanent secretary of the Students Union.

Opening kick-off chores will be handled by Mr. Ryan and Mr. Bracco.

Alberta's John Sherman Elected President Of Western Region

By Bob Kubicek

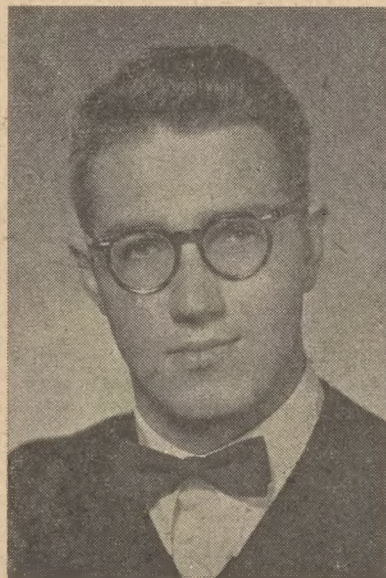

The election of the 1955-56 executive for the National Federation of Canadian University Students ended Friday at the 19th annual conference held in the Students Union building. Peter Martin of the University of Toronto was elected the new president, succeeding Doug Burns of Edmonton.

John Sherman, arts 3 was elected the new western regional president. He succeeds Doug Fitch, law 3. Universities, of British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, and Manitoba make up the western region of NFCUS.

Other executive positions filled by a new slate of officers include David Peel of Dalhousie, maritime president, Gary Keyes of McMaster, Ontario president and Ken Clare of Sir George Williams, Quebec president.

Wally Tarnalpolsky from the University of Saskatchewan was elected International Affairs-commissioner.

Succeeds Fitch

JOHN SHERMAN

New NFCUS debating association chairman is Ivan Cody of McMaster.

THE ELECTION ended an controversial ten hour session which broke-up at 4 a.m. Saturday. Administration and finance, the stumbling block of the five day conference, was finally revised with changes in the budget and a revision of the administrative setup on the national level.

The near equality of expected revenue and expenditure necessitated ed the barest minimum allocation to administration, executive salaries, projects and international affairs. The travel department, under the direction of J. Y. Pilon, came under close scrutiny of the conference. It was finally decided that if charter flights cannot be obtained from the International Air Travel association, the travel department be deferred for this year and Mr. Pilon be hired as full-time secretary-treasurer of the federation, salary of $4,200.

THE MATTER of finance was brought to a head when Ron Bray, president of the Students Union at UBC, moved for a fee hike from the present 50 to 75 cent per student and, this not being feasible, the disbanding of NFCUS. The motion, seconded by Manitoba, was defeated 18-2 by the plenary session. A tight budget was finally passed, with recommendations to member university representatives that they raise funds through grants to the federation and get member student councils in a financial position to do so, that they grant a bonus, besides their per capita fee, to the federation.

A proposal was put to the floor by the observer from McGill, who had speaking right only, that they revise the administrative set-up. The results was that the federation adopted a set-up whereby an advisory council would be selected by the national executive to assist the national executive and the president.

Throughout the conference member delegates endeavored to get something concrete and substantial to present to the student bodies on their respective campi. As a result the national commission brought several projects before the plenary to try and overcome students apathy towards NFCUS.

INCLUDED IN the national commission report and passed by the plenary session were: (1) the establishing of a publication setup which would take the form of a magazine similar to "Canadian Campus" but with added improvements. (2) a life insurance plan. (3) printing of a national membership card. (4) the putting into effect of a students discount service on campi of member universities that found it feasible. (5) approach representatives of industry and employment to improve student employment services. (Alberta was mandated for this project). (6) frieb of NFCUS scholarship campaign to get money out of the federal government be presented to the royal commission on economic affairs. (7) try for more income tax exemptions for university students. (8) Art competition (this was mandated to Alberta and is under the direction of Fred Clandfield, arts 5).

HIGHLIGHTS OF the conference during the week were the speeches of Jiri Pelikan of Czechoslovakia and Dr. M. E. LaZerte prominent Canadian educationist.

An unofficial "back room" caucus, Thursday which threatened the existence of NFCUS was broken up by members of the regular plenary session led by Alberta's John Bracco. This led to the further reprimanding of Toronto University student Clyde Batten, Canadian Press representative, for what members of the plenary considered unethical journalistic tactics.

Wanted: A Better Buy

If we can count right (sometimes we're not too sure) there are now 57 shopping days left till Christmas.

More significant, there are considerably fewer days than that before the University of Alberta Christmas cards go on sale at the University bookstore.

The U of A Christmas card (freshmen please note) is a hand-somely designed affair with an embossed university crest and a message for Christmas greeting suitable for all ages and positions in life.

The engineers, for some reason, rate a special and even better-looking, if possible Christmas card of their own.

We are proud of our university and not a little smug about the fact that we are attending it. We would cheerfully spread the fact around among all our friends and acquaintances by means of the university Christmas card.

But—the university Christmas card costs 12½ cents (envelope included), and we are reluctant to spend more than 10 cents on a Christmas card, even to the prime minister. With more than 100 of our friends and acquaintances breathlessly awaiting the annual break in letter silence, we usually look for the 5 centers at the bargain store.

Why doesn't the university or some enterprising outfit like WUCS get busy and print the perfect 7½, 8 or 10 cent university Christmas card? We'll buy it in wholesale quantities.

Better Looking Buildings

We have just returned from a tour of Western Canada's planned campus, at the University of Saskatchewan.

U of S buildings are made of prairie greystone, or light yellow brick which harmonizes with it.

They are executed in a style of architecture which combines clean lines with tasteful ornamentation, and an ability to combine odd angles in an attractive fashion.

The U of S campus is a joy to the beholder. We would cheerfully start rooting for a campaign to make our own campus buildings as beautiful as theirs, but Alberta's architectural mistakes are in durable form.

There is, however, one thing we might be able to do, and that is throw a little weight in the scale in favor of preserving the West block of Canada's Parliament buildings.

West block is not new and not streamlined. Those who accuse it of being a Victorian monstrosity have arguments on their side.

But West block, complete with wrought-iron trim and the Mackenzie tower, shares the quality of attractiveness which we noted at Saskatchewan. It is an ornament to the country.

We think it should be preserved.

You Can Help

By Albert Schweizer

It struck me as incomprehensible that I should be allowed to lead such a happy life while I saw so many people around me wrestling with care and suffering.

But, however, much concerned I was about the problem, of the misery in the world, I never let myself get lost in broodings over it; I always held firmly to the thought, that each one of use can do a little to bring some portion of it to an end.

To carry on their work effectively universities need:

1. Adequate student lodging and living conditions.
2. Adequate Health Service.
3. Adequate Educational Equipment.

Many universities in the world are struggling against heavy odds to meet these needs. Thousands of poverty-stricken and refugee students stand desperately in need of assistance to complete their studies.

University communities may help each other meet their needs through the WUS Programme of Mutual Assistance.

If students and teachers all over the world join hands in this task—and that includes YOU—what none could do alone can be done together. It is a noble adventure which all can share, each making his own contribution to the best of his ability.

NFCUS Hears Czech Student

By Allan Hope

Jeri Pelikan, President of the communist International Union of Students, said in an interview Thursday, that Canadian university students seemed uninformed on the realities of conditions as they actually existed in his native Czechoslovakia.

Mr. Pelikan, a 31 year old graduate student of Charles University in Prague, Czechoslovakia, is a guest at the 19th annual conference of the National Federation of Canadian University Students held during the past week at the University.

He admitted that he was also uninformed on conditions in Canada and said he felt exchange visits between students of the two countries would increase understanding and improve relations.

HE DEPLORED the poor relations existing between the IUS and the Co-ordinating Secretariat of the International Student Conference of which NFCUS is a member.

He also expressed a belief that unity between the two organizations was possible and said the IUS had made overtures to both NFCUS and ISC for a "conference of co-operation" to discuss "practical problems" that would pave the way for unity among world student organizations.

"THE SUGGESTION for a conference of co-operation was placed before the IUS conference in Birmingham, England, last summer," said Mr. Pelikan, "but it was rejected".

"Since that time", he continued, "the Swiss Union of Students has promoted the suggestion with a proposal that such a conference be held in Geneva."

Mr. Pelikan also said that he had presented the suggestion in the present NFCUS conference and it failed to generate interest among the Canadian delegates.

"We are willing to accept radical and profound measures and changes in order to attain unity within the international students' organization," he said.

HE EXTENDED an invitation to NFCUS to attend a world congress sponsored by the IUS and to be held in 1956, and also to express its opinion on the agenda, substance and organization of the conference.

He described the aims of the congress as being a broad international forum to exchange views and discuss student problems at the international level.

He said that the IUS was prepared to co-operate with NFCUS or any other national student organization in the exchange of ideas and co-operation in activities.

HE REGRETTED that he was unable to represent the IUS at the ISC conference in Birmingham last summer, saying that he and a fellow official of the IUS were refused visas by the British Home office, on the grounds that previous IUS delegates had taken unethical advantage of visas to England.

Describing his impressions of Canada, Mr. Pelikan said that his trip had been so crowded with activities that he was not afforded an opportunity to see Canada to any extent.

He said, however, that in the course of his trip across Canada and a visit to Montreal and Edmonton, he was impressed with Canada's technological development.

IN HIS visits to the two cities Mr. Pelikan said he was impressed by their newness but felt they lacked the feeling of tradition and culture that one found in the cities of Europe.

Remarking on the university campus he said he was much impressed with the facilities offered students and with the students themselves.

He said the university offered an atmosphere conducive to study and that facilities for social life seemed well developed.

"The students in Canada seem to be a healthy, vigorous group", he said "and are honest and friendly".

MR. PELIKAN was surprised at the Canadian habit of drinking toasts in water.

"In my country" he said, "to drink a toast in water is an insult to the person being toasted".

He said he felt his trip to Canada had been a personally rewarding and instructive experience and that he hoped they would continue; in the interest of mutual enlightenment.

To The Editors:

Is Chivalry Dead?

Reply to Mr. Peter Kuplin on his open letter.

Friend, the article which I handed over last month is definitely half-dead to me now but it isn't the same to the journalist and that is why they have published it recently. Of course I will go to Jasper with soap-box and wish it as this is my University and no one will tolerate its name being misinterpreted. I would like to publish here one letter which I have received from an unknown lady dated 6-10-55.

"I thoroughly enjoyed your letter in the paper and I must thank you for being so ready and willing to intervene. Truly I had believed the age of chivalry completely dead. It is pleasant to be able to thank you now in a more fitting manner. Some of our Canadians are rather dull and thinking of drinking and making habitual fools of themselves. When certain situations arise they do not see nor comprehend too clearly. I am sorry to say that. Thank you once again—"(not complete).

My reply to her dated 11-10-55.

"As in all sorts of wheat either rich or poor, one will always find a few stones." In the same way in every society one is sure to find bad people; but I am a weak human being, sorry to say that otherwise I would have tolerated the said incident. I don't have a big heart and a broad mind to take things as they are and that is why I dared to dream differently,—(not complete).

Rad Soc Presents Varsity News Over CKUA

In fact, following CKUA's regular news of fire, flood and general disaster, the radio society plans something in milder vein. It will present Campus Report. That's Tuesday at 8:10 p.m.: news of the Campus in Radio society's Campus Report. Thursday, we report again, same time, same station. Then comes the following program:

8:15 p.m. "Radio Society Preview." The executive will discuss programs considered for this year. You should have something to say about that.

8:30 p.m. "From Bop to Bach". Keith Ross will present a program of his own records. Try saying "From Bop to Bach" ten times quickly. No fooling, though we think Keith is good. Lots of variety, too.

8:50 to 9:00 p.m. "In their opinion". Doug Fitch, ex regional vice-president of NFCUS and Golden Key member, will be interviewed. Incidentally, his term of office as vice-president only expired last Friday. His views on NFCUS shouldn't be exactly outdated.

And that's it. What about the future? I don't know. Of course, I know the kinds of programs I'd like to have. How about the following:

Program for engineers. This would comprise recording of such fascinating sounds as diesel engines,

VCF Hears Missionary

Christians are allowed considerable freedom in distributing their literature in India, Dr. L. P. Carr from the Canadian Hospital at Nasik, India told approximately 50 students at Wednesday's VCF lecture.

Dr. Carr, superintendent of the hospital for 15 years is on tour for the Zenana Bible and Medical Mission. She said that although a great need existed for medical doctors, Christian doctors were doing most of the work.

Continuing, Dr. Carr emphasized that many more fundamental missionaries and doctors were needed, for if the Indians observed real Christianity in practice they very quickly became converted because they could see that it worked.

Finally, Dr. Carr said that the Evangelical fellowship of Missions in India had been organized by several prominent evangelical missions, and that they were trying to bring Billy Graham and Dr. Edwin Opr to India in an effort to reach more Indians for Christ.

Dr. Carr will continue her tour, leaving for Vancouver shortly.

NFCUS Sets Deadline For Annual Art Competition

The National Federation of Canadian University Students has set October 28th as the national deadline for the Third Annual Art Competition. Organizer of the Arts Competition at the U of A is Fred Clandfield, arts 5.

Judging of the pictures will be carried on by a panel from the University of Alberta Fine Arts department including Professor H. G. Glyde, Professor Norman Yates, and Mr. Allison Forbes.

Those of the entries which are deemed suitable will then be sent on tour to NFCUS universities across Canada. Arrangements for the tour are as yet incomplete, but it is expected that the pictures will proceed from Alberta to the University of British Columbia and from thence eastward. There will be about twenty pictures in the tour, which will last until the end of the spring term.

It is expected that the total number of entries will exceed that of last year, particularly when entries for preliminary competitions, held at many of the universities, are included.

As previously announced, prizes will be awarded in each of four classes: Oil paintings, Water-Color and Temper Works, Drawings, and Prints, and the grand prize for the contest will be a scholarship at the University of Alberta's Banff School of Fine Arts, valued at $200.00 for the summer of 1956.

Any enquiries regarding the competition should be made to Mr. Clandfield.

GEDDES TAKES CROSS-COUNTRY

The annual cross-country race run Saturday saw Bill Geddes leading some 225 entrants to the finish line. Running a masterful race and leading all the way Geddes winning time was 16 minutes 23 seconds. Jim Munro representing the victorious art's team closed quickly to nip Frank King for second place.

Last years winner and one of the pre-race favorites, Allen Tollestrup was forced to quit with about one mile to go when he developed a stitch. At the time he stopped, Tollestrup was running well in second place.

The intersarsity cross country team will be chosen on results of time trials run each night from now until Oct. 29. The first 20 finishers in the cross-country and any other interested persons are asked to report to the phys ed office Monday at 4:30 p.m.

In team competition, despite taking three of the first four places, the Phi Kaps were unable to retain the team championship when a strong Arts team edged them. The team championship is decided by adding the finishing positions of the first four contestants with the lowest score winning.

- These are the first ten finishers:
1. Bill Geddes, Phi Kap.
 2. Jim Munro, Arts.
 3. Frank King, Phi Kap.
 4. Ron Johnstone, Phi Kap.
 5. Vic Saltor, Arts.
 6. Jim Heywood, Kap Sig.
 7. John Chappell, LAC.
 8. Bob McArthur, Arts.
 9. Brian Staples, Phys Ed.

- The first four teams were Arts, Phi Kaps, Engineers, Phys Ed.

Alberta Manages Golf Stalemate

Saskatoon (CUP) Alberta gained an even split in the annual intersarsity golf championship held Saturday Alberta took the men's competition by five strokes while Saskatchewan retained the women's title.

Individual stars were Mike Richards and Rae Milligan of Alberta and Johnny Kilburn of Saskatchewan.

In the men's competition U of A took two of three matches. Kilburn of Saskatchewan had a 36 hole total of 148 to edge Mike Richards by one stroke in the Green and Whites only victory. Alec Bakey of Alberta had 87-77 scores to lead Norm Wine by five strokes.

Sandy Fitch's card of 183 gave him a one stroke victory over Dale Palko of Saskatchewan.

Brandon College finished third in all three matches but their showing argued well for the future years. Heading the Brandon contingent was smooth swinging Laurie Craddock who gave Richards and Kilburn a tough struggle.

The fourth hole reeled under a strong assault on par. Richards, Kilburn and Craddock required only 22 strokes to play this par five hole. Richards had two eagles while Card-dock and Kilburn birdied the hole on both rounds.

The women's competition was not so close. Rae Milligan carded 81-82 to lead the field. She received little support from her teammates and Saskatchewan led by Gerry Evans with 175 was able to retain its strangle hold on the women's inter-arsity golf title. June Trotter and Barb Beddome were the other Alberta players.
